Overview

Koloproktologii (Coloproctology) is an official journal of Russian Association of coloproctology completely dedicated for publishing original research in any discipline relating to colorectal pathology, including regular review articles and discussions of current controversies. It should, therefore, appeal to gastroenterologists, surgeons, pathologists, oncologists and any other health professional who cares for patients with a disease of the lower GI tract.

Translational and research medical journal "Koproktologia" is the official journal of the All-Russian Public Organization "Russian Association of Coloproctology".

Founded in 2002.
ISSN 2073-7556

Periodicity: quarterly.
Edition: 1000 copies.

Index for individual subscribers (catalog of the agency "Rospechat"): 80978

The publication is registered by Federal Service for Supervision of Communications, Information Technology and Mass Media. Certificate of registration of mass media PI №77-14097.

Editor-in-chief: Corresponding Member of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Doctor of Medical Sciences, Professor Yuri Shelygin

The Journal publishes original research in any discipline relating to colorectal pathology, literature reviews evaluating new medical technologies, as well as peer-reviewed articles and discussions on topical issues. Such a scale of publications allows us to determine the most urgent problems and issues in everyday surgical practice, as well as receive feedback on the results of the use of technologies already implemented in practical health care.

All articles are peer reviewed.

The journal is intended not only for coloproctologists, but also for gastroenterologists, surgeons, pathologists, oncologists and other medical workers who treat patients with diseases of the lower gastrointestinal tract.

The journal Koproktologia publishes reviews, lectures, original articles, case reports and practical notes concerning benign and malignant colorectal disease.

Wide participation of foreign colleagues in the editorial board reflects our openness and desire to see on the pages of the journal the results of research and surgical activities of various medical schools. The rapid development of information technology provides unique opportunities for more intensive cooperation of scientists and doctors from different countries, regardless of borders and distances.

By decision of the Higher Attestation Commission (VAK) of the Ministry of Education and Science of the Russian Federation, translational and research medical journal "Koproktologia" is included in the List of peer-reviewed scientific publications recommended by the Higher Attestation Commission for the publication of the main scientific results of dissertational research for the degree of Candidate and Doctor of Science (№750 January 24, 2013)

The journal Koproktologia has an Internet page where information on the publisher, the editor-in-chief, the editorial board and the editorial board, with the indication of the academic degree, the academic rank of all its members, information on the subject, the journal subject, rules of referral, reviewing and publishing scientific articles. The issue has a subscription index in Rospechat and is distributed through an editorial subscription (for members of the Russian Association of Coloproctology).
